

The Client A highly respected and leading manufacturer of a wide range of bespoke consumer and commercial equipment, with an innovative Design and Development team committed to creative and innovative NPI to meet the ever changing market place. The Role As part of a planned expansion they now wish to enhance their existing Design and Development team by the appointment of a Senior Electrical Design and Development Engineer. This is essentially new product development (NPI) with an ongoing com

read full article